

Introduction into the concept of flow as movement metaphysics of the feminine principle

by Teresa Lucia Forstreuter

in collaboration with Isaona Kherrour

The way the feminine movement works is through expressing the full range of circular extension.

We found the freedom in the feminine body is created to allow flow to appear.

Flow is created through the effortless surrender to the electromagnetic field that is moving matter as photons enter the space.

Through following the pathways of the forms and shapes that energy creates the feminine body is the nature of creation.
